Cub Pack Have Busy Season

The 1st Didsbury Wolf Cub Pack will conclude its year's activities this Friday evening with the presentation of badges and stars to Cubs who have earned them. Nine boys have received First Stars this year, and a number have earned proficiency badges.

The Pack has taken part in two Ice Skampades, providing a team and a color party, as well as taking a jaunt to Calgary last fall to see the Chief Scout of the World, Lord Rosalind.

They placed second in the Mountain View District Jamboree on June 12th, winning 3 firsts, two seconds, two thirds, in seven events they entered. There were 10 events in all.

No meetings will be held until October 2nd, but the Akela will be at the hall Friday evening during August, to pass boys who have test work to do.

There is a waiting list of Cubs who desire to join, and since the Leaders feel that they cannot do justice to a pack of more than 26 now in, parents are asked to phone Mrs. Mullen at 820, and find out if there is a vacancy before sending their boy to the meetings.

Boys are eligible to join at 8 years of age.

Golf Course A Busy Spot ...

JUNIOR BOYS GOLF TOURNAMENT

Eighteen enthusiastic junior golfers were on hand at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to compete in the Jr. Boys Golf Tournament. Heavy rains made it necessary to postpone the tournament until 12 noon (though one young hopeful said he thought it wasn't raining on the other side of the bush).

It was a splendid tournament with the players not only keen, but good sports and those who worked and contributed felt their efforts well rewarded.

Perhaps in 1960 we can have 18 junior girls in a similar competition.

Larry Platz won the Jimmy Millar Cup from Bruce Yorker with a score of 47; Darrold Banta was runner-up with a score of 48. Hidden hole (No. 6) was won by Larry Platz.

Hail Suppression Report ...

Hail Suppression officially commenced at 12 noon, Saturday, June 20th. The project is roughly an area with the northern boundary running through Three Hills, Altonham and three miles north of Didsbury. The western boundary extends from three miles west of Didsbury to Calgary. The eastern boundary of Knechtli is the Red Deer River and Rocky View, roughly the range between Ranges 36 and 27 West. The southern boundary, the Cornish road.

Hail reports have been quite numerous in the province this month, which many farmers feel may be an indication of an above normal hail year. The first two days of operations were days of overcast skies, with no threat of hail, although one half inch of precipitation was recorded at the Didsbury office. No generators were operated during the weekend but the aircraft was used for cloud top observation.

It was interesting to note the path covered by the storm of June 6th. This storm developed in the foothills north and west of Didsbury and is reported to have swept across country in an easterly direction, to at least as far as Hanna. Due to the early date, very little crop damage would result. The storm a week later that was damaging in the Swallow area, is reported to have developed in the Penhold region and swept south-east, reaching its peak in the Swallow and Aene areas.

All who have hail reporting cards sent out from the Hail Research group at Penhold are urged to report hail on their farms as accurately as possible. These reports may eventually prove of real value in connection with the hail problem in Central Alberta.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT LOCAL CHURCH

The Rev. Roland Miller, Lutheran missionary to the Muslims in South India will present an illustrated lecture on his mission work among the Muslims at Redemptor Lutheran Church on Thursday, July 2 at 8 p.m.

Rev. Miller, born at MacNutt, Saskatchewan, spent his youth at Lundbrecht and Newell, Sask. He studied at Concordia, Edmonton, St. Louis, Missouri, and Hartford, Conn. Upon completing his studies, he was commissioned at Melville, Sask. on June 7, 1953 and shortly afterwards left to bring the Gospel of the Crucified and Risen Savior to the worshippers of Allah. This field of missions is one of the most difficult that faces the Christian Church. Rev. Miller will give information on the characteristics of the people, their faith, and also what it means to be a Christian when one steps out of Allah's fold. His lectures will be enhanced by the use of colored slides.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER MAINTAINS ITS INFLUENCE

- How often a successful executive, far from his small-town birthplace — maintains his contacts through regular receipt of his weekly newspaper.
- There is nothing quite like a small town weekly for neighborly news and intimate contacts.
- People in the advertising business talk about selected audiences — sharply focused circulation. They have learned from experience that when a publication is specially edited to appeal to the specific interests of a smaller group of people, its opportunities to make sales are multiplied many times over.
- The weekly newspaper is that kind of publication. Whether its circulation is a few hundred or a few thousand, it represents effective circulation.
- Gather the towns-people and farm folk around you when you advertise. Surround yourself with friendly neighbors — deliver your advertising message through your local weekly newspaper.

MAKE IT A SAFE HOLIDAY

JULY 1 ST

SAFE DRIVING

You may know the fundamentals of safe driving but here are some extra pointers:

- Read and heed traffic warning signs and signals. They're for your protection.
- Allow plenty of time so you don't have to hurry.
- Try to maintain the same speed as other traffic to avoid passing or being passed.

SAFE BOATING

Small boats are fun, but don't go into them unless you can swim. An overloaded or out-of-balance boat can easily tip. When embarking, test your handle on both gunwales, and step into the centre. Once seated, stay put. Changing seats or standing up in any small craft is asking for trouble. If your boat capsizes, hang on and wait for help. If anyone falls overboard, reach to him with a paddle, rope, jacket or almost anything and lead him to the rear of the boat. If your boat carries a motor be careful of spilled or leaking gasoline. Even a small fire can be disastrous in a boat. A properly equipped boat has a life preserver for each passenger.

SAFE SUNNING

Sure, get out and get under the sun, but don't overdo it. No sense spending your vacation "all burned up". If you don't want to be as red as a lobster, suntan oil will help, but never stay in the sun until your skin begins to redden. If you do, you'll have a real burn. Always get into the shade a little before you should.

SAFE SHOOTING

Keep your gun "on safety" until ready to fire. When walking in single file, the lead man should carry his gun pointing forward. The other should shoulder arms. To go through a fence, unload the gun and put it on the other side first. Never shoot at anything you can't see clearly.

SAFE WATER SPORTS

Come on in... the water's fine; but wait two hours after eating. Don't dive unless you're sure the water is deep enough and free from rocks, stumps or old pilings. Never swim alone and never continue to swim away from shore until you become tired. Remember after first warning you'll tire rapidly, so keep plenty of reserve strength to return to shallow water. Tired muscles cramp easily.

Unless you're an expert swimmer, don't try water skiing. If you're learning to fly-cast, better start without a hook. Fish-hooks make very nasty wounds.

Pulpwood Logs on the Ottawa River, with the nation's parliament buildings in the background, symbolize the importance of the forest to Canada. Though pulp and paper alone, the forest harvest brings in more than $1 billion a year from sales abroad. Increasing public awareness of the importance of these world markets which, directly and indirectly, generate income and employment for hundreds of thousands of Canadians, was called for in a brief presented recently to a committee of M.P.'s studying the nation's natural resources. Forestry research and tax incentives to promote better forest management were held, by the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association brief, to be the most promising means of promoting greater use of our forest resources and the orderly expansion of the industries based upon them.

Guest Editorial

THE WAR CRIMES OF TOMORROW

On a popular TV program last night the question was asked, as we have often asked ourselves, who would be tried for war crimes after the next war? We were surprised at the general opinion on this panel that the dropping of the atomic bomb by the United States on Hiroshima was in itself one of the great war crimes of World War II.

It was interesting to hear the rebuttal by the United States visitor on the panel who had acted as a prosecutor at the Nuremberg trials.

There is always the question as to where moral responsibility and personal responsibilities towards the higher authorities in time of war come in conflict. General Taylor, U.S., volunteered the information that more Japanese people were killed by fire bombs over Tokyo, than were killed by the Hiroshima bomb.

Under the present day equipment it is impossible to conduct a "gentleman's war." There was a lot of bitter relations on both sides. The Coventry raid in England inspired the heavy bombing raids over Germany, where in one raid more than 40,000 people of Hamburg lost their lives. The Allies were so certain that Germany would capitulate early when they saw for themselves what the war was doing to them, but Hitler kept them fighting on to their ultimate destruction.

Thus we had the revelation of the terrible concentration camps such as Belchen, and the infamous Japanese prisoner of war camps. Camrose has a pair of Japanese internment victims in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Kramers. It is hard to hear their story and retain one's poise in thinking and action.

BEEF WILL RIDE HIGH

Beef price will ride high for some time, says The Financial Post. Pork looks like it will stagger along under a crushing over-supply position.

There are several "ifs" in the situation. But at least there are no certain signs of any change in the pattern, except seasonal swings, for the next year or longer.

Right now, beef prices are historically high and pork prices are skidding. Pork would probably be lower if it were not for federal price support.

CUT THE PENSION STRINGS

The powers that be in Ottawa should make up their minds whether the Canadian old age pension, costing the treasury $577 million this year, is a charitable hand-out or a legal right.

The official theory is that the recipient pay for the pension in advance by a special 3% tax on income (raised from 2% this year) and by a lifetime's effort for the country's good.

If this doctrine is to be sustained, obviously the monthly cheques for $55 should pursue the beneficiaries wherever they choose to live. There's no excuse for cutting off the pension of people who want to spend their old age in Britain, Florida or Timbuctu, and the law should be amended accordingly.

True Enough — It Happened Again . . .

'Tis the same old story — Social Credit still rules Alberta. The large majority the party received in the Thursday election was surprising to everyone, not excluding Premier Manning. Now that we have that issue disposed of let's settle down and find out what out of the five-year melon will end up in "our town"; this melon has been sliced in many sections but so far it seems our share has been misplaced. Any information from our M.L.A. or other parties in the know would be deeply appreciated by us, and our readers.

We Like This One . . .

Following his retirement a veteran salesman remarried and settled down in his home town. The local newspaper had a nice story about the wedding on the society page, but the gremlins went to work and the headline from a story on another page appeared over the account. It read: "Old Power Plant Re-activated." (You can blame Readers Digest for that one.)

Why Not Charge 'Em ???

A number of property owners have asked us how come those who don't pay property taxes are still eligible to vote in a town election. Seems like there was a poll tax to cover this but it was voted out by the town council for obscure reasons. We understand it's a compulsory tax in B.C. — why not here? Let's all help pay for the improvements that are taking place in "our town."

Another Famous Quote . . .

"An incurable optimist is a motorist who believes he has a pretty good chance of winning from a slot machine, but just a slight chance of being killed in a traffic accident." (Doesn't make sense to us.)

SOW THISTLE: Many farmers are concerned at this time with the control of perennial sow thistle. This bad weed, along with Canada thistle, has been spreading to many new areas and is rather difficult to handle unless you recognize and know how to deal with the peculiar characteristics of this weed.

Sow thistle starts to grow quite late, after the crops are well along, but it grows very fast after it emerges so that at heading time for cereal crops, sow thistle isn't very far behind. This very feature has complicated the chemical control of this weed since, when using 2,4-D as in years past, we had to spray the crop when it was in a safe stage; namely before it reached the shot blade stage.

As a result of this early spraying, much of the sow thistle had not yet emerged and that which had emerged was still so very small that relatively little control was experienced from the use of the 2,4-D.

Fortunately we now have a weed spray that can be used safely on oats, as well as barley, wheat and flax at practically any stage from the very early to the headed stage. The best advice we can give you now if you have sow thistle is this:

1. Let your crops reach the stage where they are almost ready to head out, or until you are satisfied that the sow thistle plants are all a fair height.

2. Spray with MCP Ester at the rate of from 8 to 10 ounces acid per acre.

3. Adjust your sprayer to deliver five gallons or more of water per acre.

Last year where these few basic instructions were followed exceptionally good results were experienced.

WEDDINGS

JOHANSON — HUNTER
A wedding of much interest to this district was held in Knox Church, Red Deer, on Saturday, June 20th, when Arlene Theodora Hunter and Mr. Charles Johanson exchanged marriage vows. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hunter of Red Deer. Rev. W. R. Bell officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in full-length white nylon lace over satin. She chose a finger-tip veil, held in place by a pearl and sequin headpiece, and carried a white Bible with sweetheart roses.

Miss Loreta Hunter, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a pink balarina nylon dress, with matching headpiece. Best man was Morley Johanson, brother of the groom. Ushers were Mr. Stanley Gracie of Edmonition and George Morasch of Didsbury. Miss Evelyn Domoney sang the wedding solo.

A reception for 59 guests was held at the I.O.O.F. hall. Mr. Edward Mulford proposed the toast to the bride and was responded to by the father of the bride, as well as the groom.

The bride's mother received the guests in a blue dress with white accessories. Mrs. Johanson wore a green dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore coronas of red roses.

Following a honeymoon trip to Banff and points in B.C., the happy couple will take up residence in Red Deer.

Out-of-town guests were from Didsbury, Calgary, Taber, Edmonton, Grande Prairie, Olds and Penhold.

THE

BY KATHLEEN CARNEY

Now is the time when the home-maker realizes that she has a definite rhubarb surplus. The family has about all they can do for in the way of fresh rhubarb pies and rhubarb brown betty. Why not freeze some of the extra stalks?

Here are some points to remember when freezing rhubarb:

USE tender stalks

PREPARE fruit while fresh

PACK fruit in air-tight containers that are moisture capor proof.

COLOR and flavor are retained more satisfactorily if raw rhubarb is cooled immediately after being blanched for one minute.

LEAVE one-half inch headspace in the package. Freeze immediately after packing.

Rhubarb may be frozen in various forms:

METHOD ONE:—

Cut in 1" pieces and use 2 cups of sugar to 4 lbs. (11 cups) of fruit or packed in 1 to 1 syrup.

METHOD TWO:—

Cut in uniform 8" to 10" lengths. Wrap stalks in bundles and freeze.

METHOD THREE:—

Cook for sauce, sweeten to taste. Cook before packaging.

Next winter you will be able to delight the family with their favorite rhubarb desserts.

You are welcome to write or call in to this office for our bulletin containing many different recipes for using rhubarb.

June is Dairy Month in Canada. This gives us all an extra chance to be more aware of the benefits derived from extensive use of dairy products.

Milk is an important source of calcium and phosphorus so necessary for development of sound bone structure and good teeth. In addition milk contains a large percentage of protein and is a valuable source of vitamins. Better because of its high fat content and is a good source of energy for the body. It also contains Vitamin A and minerals.

There is no end to the means in which dairy foods can be used in meals and menu planning. Let's insure the health of our families by observing dairy month all year round.

CHEMICAL WEED CONTROL
KNOW THE FACTS

Farm experience has proved beyond a doubt that weeds in growing grain crops can be effectively and profitably controlled through the proper use of chemicals. A brief review of some of the more important factors associated with the successful control of weeds with chemicals follows.

Know the Facts. Weeds respond differently to 2,4-D, MCPA and other herbicides. For instance, Wild Mustard is sensitive to 2,4-D; whereas Smartweeds and Hemp Nettle are quite resistant to 2,4-D.

Chemical. It is therefore essential that farmers know the weeds they want to control, and then use the more resistant or harder-to-kill weeds as a guide to select the right kind of chemical and the right rate of application for their effective control. In other words, for any given weed and crop situation use the higher rates given in the label directions of the chemical manufacturer. Furthermore, if you want to get the best results from your chemical weed control operations — know your sprayer. Have it in good working order and calibrated so that it will apply the right amount of chemical to produce consistent weed control with the greatest economy.

Spray Early. No factor in chemical weed control is more important than early treatment. Weeds exert their maximum effect in reducing crop yields during the very early stages of crop growth. Besides, weeds are more easily killed when young, and therefore less chemical is required. In chemical weed control, the early bird catches the weeds.

2,4-D or MCPA. The newer chemical MCPA is less injurious than 2,4-D to small grain crops. For maximum effectiveness in weed control, as well as in crop safety, use MCPA on oats and flax. MCPA is also a safer chemical to use on very young crops of wheat and barley.

In chemical weed control — knowledge is power. It spells success. Know your weeds, know your crops, know your chemical, and know your sprayer. Don't lose your battle against weeds this year by being "too late with too little chemical."

NOTES FROM

The District
Agriculturist
HOWARD
FULCHER

The Provincial Government operates two schools of Agriculture in Alberta, one of these is located at Olds. The main objective of the Agricultural and Home Economics courses is education and training to boys and girls so that they are better fitted for a successful career as farmers of today and tomorrow.

The boy's courses consist of agricultural subjects such as field husbandry, animal husbandry, farm management, etc. These subjects are dealt with both in the study and practical phases. In addition academic courses are given to those who require them.

In the case of the girls the Home Economics course includes all phases of home-making, sewing, cooking, nursing as well as academic subjects. It is designed to give the practical experience and training a girl needs so she can better become a successful home-maker.

The courses are given during the winter season so that the rural boys and girls may be at home during the busy summer farm months. The cost of the course is not high, the knowledge and training gained is very valuable. The extra curricular activities, dormitory life and companionship together with the classroom studies all go to give an education and training which grows boys and girls to become successful farmers and home makers later in their own community.

Young people who have completed their desired academic standings in schools and plan on an agricultural life should give this school serious consideration. Further information can be obtained from the Principal Olds School of Agriculture or this office.

A CAR FOR A QUEEN

Little Ann Turnes admires the rear compartment of the Cadillac Fleetwood Sedan which has been adapted and specially fitted for the Royal Tour of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. Two individually powered rear seats, upholstered in silver grey McLaughlin Carriage cloth, are features of the rear compartment of the car. Matching cushions and a lap rug of the same material — the latter carrying the Royal Crest embroidered in red gold — as well as grey mouton floor covering and individual hassocks, complete the decor of the rear compartment. The car is also specially equipped with twin air conditioning units, powered sliding sunshine roof panel and a remote control radio knob at the Queen's right hand. Shown top, left, is a rear view of the exterior of the Royal Cadillac, which illustrates the detachable bubble of optically perfect plexiglass. It can be removed or installed in minutes. Lower left shows the car emerging from one of the RCAF's C-119 "Flying Boxcars" which will transport it to many Canadian points and to Chicago during the Royal Tour.

The Post Wails Again . . .

The Financial Post strenuously opposes government participation in business on anything but a basis of aid and protection to private companies. Its supposedly keen business acumen is sadly killed by prejudice whenever it discusses issues where the government has gone beyond this. I can see no merit or justification for government interference with business in the interests of either the consumer or the producer, only for the profit of the private operator.

Although overwhelmingly demanded by the former, the Canadian Wheat Board and its marketing policies are the never ending butt for the Post's displeasure.

The following are the concluding paragraphs of an editorial published in its columns, decrying the recent Food-for-Peace Conference in Washington.

"The trouble with the latest 'plan' as with most of the other international and national schemes dealing with wheat, is that their authors refuse to face the facts. When a Private merchant finds his shelves overstocked, he doesn't sit back, fire most of the salesmen and try to make a deal with his competitors down the street to hold up prices.

"If he did that he would soon go broke.

"Yet that is precisely what the major world wheat producers, including Canada, have done. They have closed or restricted their grain exchanges, they have made wheat marketing a government monopoly, and through various deals they have tried to hold up prices in the face of mounting surpluses. No wonder production and dumping have both increased.

Squirrel Cage . . .

A couple of Scotsmen were walking along a road and one of them was jingling something in his pocket.

His pal asked: "Jock, you must have plenty of money in there."

"Oh, no," said Jock, "that's my wife's false teeth. There's been too much eatin' between meals in our house."

oly, and through various deals they have tried to hold up prices in the face of mounting surpluses. No wonder production and dumping have both increased.

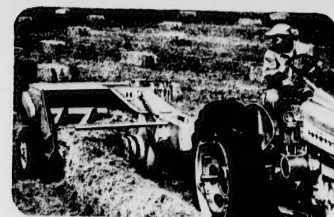

The Canadian Wheat Board did not "fire" salesmen of the private grain trade. Exporters can, and do, still sell much of our wheat but they buy their supplies from the Wheat Board instead of on the Exchange. The Post, in its nostalgia for the return of the open market, continues to push the completely discredited theory that by allowing grain prices to drop to their "natural" level in the pit of the Exchange, our surpluses would automatically disappear.

We wish the Financial Post could forget its antipathy to Wheat Board marketing long enough to give the country the benefit of its sagacity in an occasional, constructive grain marketing editorial.

DISTRICT NEWS*LUFT — JACKSON

Westdale United Church, decorated with gladioli and mums, was the setting for the 2:30 p.m. wedding on June 19th of Marion Luft, Jeannine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, and Allen Henry, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luft. Rev. A. Magee of Carstairs performed the ceremony.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the "Wedding March," played by Mrs. J. C. Temple of Olds, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of nylon net and chantilly lace over satin; the fitted bodice of lace featured lily-point sleeves and a straight neckline trimmed with pearls and iridescent sequins. From a front panel of net with lace insertion, eight lace-trimmed ruffles encircled the back of the skirt. Her matching finger-tip veil misted from a tiara, highlighted with iridescent sequins and pearls; she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses. Her only jewellery was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Henry Wiebe of Red Deer, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, wore a full-length gown of blue lace and net, and carried pink carnations.

Little Debra Pihl, cousin of the bride, was adorable as flower girl. She wore a peach nylon dress with white collar, white hat and gloves, and carried a basket of colored carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. James Jackson, a brother of the bride.

Guests were ushered by Mr. Clarence Luft, brother of the groom, and Mr. Glen Kershaw, a cousin of the bride. Mr. Johnny Duff sang "O Promise Me", during the signing of the register.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore an embroidered beige dress and duiker, with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was attired in a dusty rose lace gown, with white accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

A reception for 60 guests was held in the Westdale hall. The bride's table was centred with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake topped with white doves and bells. Mr. Stan Jackson, uncle of the bride, was master of ceremonies. Mr. Adam Luft, uncle of the groom, asked the blessing. Mr. E. J. Jackson proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Mr. James Jackson read a telegram of congratulations from the Parents of Rosedale, B.C.

Relatives from outside points were from Calgary, Red Deer, Cremona, Calgary, Olds and Didsbury.

In the evening "open house" was held at the hall when approximately 200 guests saw the many beautiful gifts on display. Buffet lunch was served, with Mrs. Bob Kershaw pouring tea and Mrs. J. P. Schneider on the coffee detail.

A short program followed, consisting of vocal selections by Douste and Deanna Duff, recitations by Patsy Pinnie, and a piano duet by Cheryl and Wayne Jackson.

For their honeymoon trip east, the bride wore a medium blue suit with a red rose corsage. On their return they will reside in the Zella district.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE PRIZES AWARDED

Twelve branches of the Women's Institute from all over Alberta recently were awarded prizes in four sewing contests sponsored by the Federated Women's Institutes of Alberta in co-operation with Salada-Shuriff-Horsey Ltd.

Mrs. Ed Klink accepted first prize in the fourth contest, patchwork quilts, on behalf of the Westcott Junior Women's Institute in Westcott and also second prize for Westcott Women's Institute in Didsbury.

An official of the Alberta Women's Institutes said that the competitions were among the most successful work projects ever undertaken by the provincial organization.

LIGHT YOUR WAY . . .*... WITH BIBLE STUDY

One question we often ask ourselves when on vacation is: "Do I fit into the crowd?" As human beings we want to conform with the crowd. We are afraid of being different.

Yet, as Christians we know that we are different. Christians have been different from the very beginning of the Christian Church. We know that we are in the world, yet we are not of the world.

This simple truth, as voiced by St. Paul: "And be not conformed to this world but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind."

Romans 12, 2a, can well be our guide as we once again plan these wonderful vacations. We may enjoy all the wonders of God's creation. But there comes a time when we must stop. That time, when we are tempted to conform to the standards of the world. It may become difficult for us to say: "No!" Especially when so many others are doing these things. But we know to be wrong. But is it not much better for us to say "No!" to these things, than to sin against God or our neighbors?

Let us this vacation time clearly remember that we owe our allegiance to God, rather than to popular opinion. And remembering this, ours will be a happier vacation.

FARM INCOME STILL TOO LOW

Farm net income in Alberta in 1958 has been placed at $249.7 million by the bureau of statistics. Based on the latest census figures this means that after paying operating expenses and depreciation the average farmer in the province received around $3,000 for his own wages and those of his family, as well as interest on his investment. This works out at only $250 a month — a pretty slim wage.

Of course, averages don't mean much, for there are many farmers whose farms are too small to offer economic operation and many of these would realize no net income at all. Others, with a more profitable operation, would have net earnings well above average. But by the time interest on investment, a legitimate charge against business, is calculated and deducted the average earnings of Alberta farmers last year was much lower than almost any other type of wage earner in this country.

Despite the fact that net farm income in Alberta showed a 40 per cent increase over 1957, it still has a long ways to go to reach a reasonable level.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How scientific understanding of God gives new inspiration and meaning to life will be a theme presented at Christian Science services Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" is the Golden Text from 1 Peter (1:25): "The word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The time for thinkers has come. Truth, independent of doctrine and time-honored systems, knocks at the portal of humanity" (vii: 13-18).

Among the Bible passages will be this verse from Isaiah (50:4): "The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary; he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned."
